The Boats of a Tender lying in that Harbour, inſtantly attack'd her in order to impreſs her Hands, which was ſtoutly reſiſted by the Pink's Crew, being only ſix, againſt ſixteen. Some of the Tender's Crew, not ſatisfied with threatening, fired among 'em, and kill'd one of them. Upon which three Officers we apprehended, and committed to Durham-Goal.

The Pulteney Privateer, Capt. Purcell, took and ſent into Port-mahon, the 4th of Feb. O. S. a Spaniſh Settee, laden with French Brandy and other Goods, to the Value of 3000 Dollars.

PHILADELPHIA April 8.

On Friday laſt arrived here our Privateer George, Capt. John Sibbald; who brought in with him two Prizes, viz. a Ship and a Snow, which he met with in the Windward Paſſage, bound from Barracoa to Cape Francois: They were both Engliſh Veſſels, which had been taken by a Spaniſh Privateer, commanded by one Capt. Louis Siverio, as they were outward bound from Jamaica; the Ship laden with Sugar, Cotton, Ginger, Pimento, Mahogony and Campeachy Wood, bound to London; the Snow in her Ballaſt, bound to Virginia; and carried into Barracoa, where they were condemned, and proceeding on their Voyage to Cape Francois, there to be ſold: They were under the Conduct of French Captains and Sailors. The Value of the Prizes are judged to be between Five and Six Thouſand Pounds. — Capt. Sibbald informs us, that he chaſed a Spaniſh Billander aſhore near the Iſland of Saltortuga, which he underſtood was bound into Carthagena, with a rich Cargo on board; but the Spaniards on board drove her up ſo high, and the Surge was ſo great that they could not bring a Boat to lie along ſide of her, ſo after having got ſome Sails, Rigging, and other Trifles from on Board, they ſet her on Fire. Capt. Sibbald further informs us, that he went into a Bay a little to Windward of Santa Martha, where was a Guard kept of between 30 and 40 Men, with 3 Pieces of Cannon, which he attack'd and carried off their Cannon; he found their Commiſſion from the Governor of St. Martha to the Captain of the Guard, which contained Things of a cruel and barbarous Nature.
